- Office hours: By appointment only; please call the Department of Anthropology (581-6251) and leave your name, phone number, and class number.
- Time: Each Monday and Wednesday at 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.
- Location: Campus: ST 208
- Important dates: May 21, 2008– last day to drop classes
May 27, 2008 – last day to register, to elect CR/NC option or to audit classes
May 30, 2008 – last day to withdraw from term length classes
June 13, 2008 – last day to reverse CR/NC option
- Required Texts: All required articles/chapters (in chronological order) are to be found at the Reserve Desk at Marriott Library. Please check also electronic reserve by Marriott Library.
All articles/chapters are listed below as the required reading for specific weeks.
- Optional Texts:
Ewa Wasilewska: Rise of Civilization. Notes. 2008. (EW)
Notes can be purchased during the first three class meetings from an instructor.
- Future/optional Texts:
Such texts are listed after required readings about any of the discussed civilizations. You don't have to read them this semester (or any other semester) but if you are interested in exploring any specific subject on your own, this is a start.
- Subject: This course fulfills Social/Behavioral Science Integration. It focuses on the rise of various civilizations around the world. This class explores such famous complex societies as Egypt and Mesopotamia, the Maya, as well as those less known but equally important as the Indus Valley or nomadic empire of the Hsiung-Nu.

Requirements:

Come to the lectures, enjoy them, do your readings, and pass required exams/assignments (all – take home; each – 5 pages, typed, double space). At the end of the semester turn in your paper (7 pages plus bibliography) on your most favorite civilization! And remember, always laugh at the instructor’s jokes!

Meeting # 1 – May 12, 2008

Toward a definition of “CIVILIZATION.”

- ❖ [From] Common understanding: “You know it when you find it,” i.e., selected histories of discoveries.
 - ◆ Origin of the term itself (Latin “civilis, civilitas, civis, civitas;” French “civilisation, civilisateur, civiliser;”).
 - ◆ Other terms (e.g., “prehistory versus history,” “complex versus primitive societies”).
 - ◆ Selected discoveries: Mesopotamia, Egypt, Minoan, and Mesoamerican civilizations.

- ❖ [Through] Classical listing of elements of civilization (understood as “urbanization”).

- ❖ [To] Modern methodologies in comparative studies of various civilizations.

ACADEMIC MISCONDUCT

Please familiarize yourself with the University of Utah CODE OF STUDENT RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES (“STUDENT CODE”) at

<http://www.admin.utah.edu/ppmanual//8/8-10.html>

The following is an excerpt from this CODE explaining specific actions, which won't be tolerated in this class.

“2. “Academic misconduct” includes, but is not limited to, cheating, misrepresenting one's work, inappropriately collaborating, plagiarism, and fabrication or falsification of information, as defined further below. It also includes facilitating academic misconduct by intentionally helping or attempting to help another to commit an act of academic misconduct.

a. “Cheating” involves the unauthorized possession or use of information, materials, notes, study aids, or other devices in any academic exercise, or the unauthorized communication with another person during such an exercise. Common examples of cheating include, but are not limited to, copying from another student's examination, submitting work for an in-class exam that has been prepared in advance, violating rules governing the administration of exams, having another person take an exam, altering one's work after the work has been returned and before resubmitting it, or violating any rules relating to academic conduct of a course or program.

b. Misrepresenting one's work includes, but is not limited to, representing material prepared by another as one's own work, or submitting the same work in more than one course without prior permission of both faculty members.

c. “Plagiarism” means the intentional unacknowledged use or incorporation of any other person's work in, or as a basis for, one's own work offered for academic consideration or credit or for public presentation. Plagiarism includes, but is not limited to, representing as one's own, without attribution, any other individual's words, phrasing, ideas, sequence of ideas, information or any other mode or content of expression.

d. “Fabrication” or “falsification” includes reporting experiments or measurements or statistical analyses never performed; manipulating or altering data or other manifestations of research to achieve a desired result; falsifying or misrepresenting background information, credentials or other academically relevant information; or selective reporting, including the deliberate suppression of conflicting or unwanted data. It does not include honest error or honest differences in interpretations or judgments of data and/or results.”

The following sanctions will be imposed in this class for a student engaging in academic misconduct:

1. A failing grade for the specific assignment, paper, exam, etc., without possibility to re-write it, re-take it, etc. This academic misconduct will be reported to the Chairman of the Department of Anthropology.
2. The second offense will be sanctioned with a failing grade for the whole course. In such a case, the following rule of the University of Utah CODE OF STUDENT RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES is applicable and will be followed: "If the faculty member imposes the sanction of a failing grade for the course, the faculty member shall, within ten (10) business days of imposing the sanction, notify in writing, the chair of the student's home department and the senior vice president for academic affairs or senior vice president for health sciences, as appropriate, of the academic misconduct and the circumstances which the faculty member believes support the imposition of a failing grade."
3. For more information concerning sanctions for academic misconduct (additional sanctions might be imposed) and your rights and procedures to appeal these sanctions please refer to the aforementioned CODE.

If you need more information and/or explanations please don't hesitate to contact the instructor.
